

Name _____

Argument/Persuasion

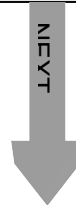

What ideas do you care about deeply? What concepts do you enjoy discussing with others? What peaks your interest? About what do you feel strongly? What would you like to see changed? List three or more ideas in the box below.

1
2
3
4

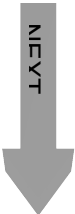

Select one of the topics from those above that you can write more about, that you can provide specific details about.

Topic, ISSUE, OR problem

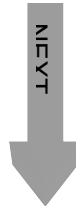

Write this idea stating your opinion in a complete sentence in the box below.

My Opinion

How would you solve the problem?

PROPOSED SOLUTION

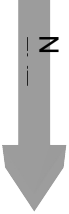

What would others argue against your opinion?

OTHER VIEWPOINTS

Outline for Writing a Persuasive Essay

Name _____

My Opinion/Position statement

How would you solve the problem?

What would others argue against your opinion?

PROPOSED SOLUTION

What reasons would support your argument?

OTHER VIEWPOINTS

1
2
3

How would you refute opposing points of view?

Supporting arguments

Rebuttal

Outline for Writing a Persuasive Essay

Name _____

Transfer your three best supporting arguments/reasons to the boxes below and write each in a complete sentence. Then, provide examples and details which support each reason. Decide in which section the rebuttal to the opposing viewpoint should appear as one of the details to support the reason.

Reason 1 (Topic Sentence)
3 Examples/details

Paragraph 2

Reason 2 (Topic Sentence)
3 Examples/details

Paragraph 3

Reason 3 (Topic Sentence)
3 Examples/details

Paragraph 4

Outline for Writing a Persuasive Essay

Name _____

What interesting information have you learned while researching and writing your paper? What startling statistic, fascinating fact, or interesting detail would draw your reader into your paper? Write one or two sentences which grab your readers' attention (hook). Next, write your position/thesis statement.

Introduction
Hook/Grabber
Position Statement / Thesis Statement (A thesis statement defines or expresses the argument in the form of an opinion.) Include your 3 major points.

Paragraph 1

How will you end your essay? Do not bring up new information. Restate your thesis/position statement in a new way. Next, sum up your major points. Present your solution to the problem. Then, call your reader to action. What do you want your reader to do as a result of learning about your topic?

Conclusion
Restate Thesis Statement
Sum up your major points
Solution and call to action	